In memory: Floral tributes adorn the roundabout where Darren Coomber was killed in June last year

Deadlinepix KT14816

by MATT WATTS

mwatts@london.newsquest.co.uk

The distraught parents of a man who killed his brother in a tragic car crash have pleaded for their son to be spared jail, saying he has suffered enough.

Dean Coomber, 27, of Holtwood Road in Oxshott, pleaded guilty at Isleworth Crown Court on Wednesday, January 2, to causing his brother Darren's death by dangerous driving.

He was behind the wheel of his Mini and over the legal alcohol limit, when it mounted the kerb at the Fountain roundabout in New Malden at about 2.20am on June 21.

His 25-year-old brother was on a night out when Coomber picked him up to give him a lift home. He died from the injuries he sustained in the crash, despite attempts to resuscitate him at the scene.

Now his parents have called for "common sense and sympathy" from the judge hearing the case when Coomber is handed his sentence later this month.

"Dean is already serving a life sentence from the guilt he is feeling," said his mother Noreen. "I have already lost one son and I don't want to lose another."

She said the family had already suffered enough and would be made to suffer more if he went to prison.

Coomber's father Paul said the family just wanted to get back to some sort of normality following the tragedy.

"We just hope the judge

Tragic death: Darren, 25, died in a car being driven by his brother, Dean shows some common sense and sympathy when he gives Dean his sentence," he added.

"He had only drunk four shandies and was only just over the limit."

He said when Coomber was tested by police he had 90mg of alcohol to 100ml of blood, 10mg above the legal limit.

When addressing Coomber following his guilty plea, Judge McGregor Johnson said: "You will be fully aware of all the possible sentences and despite the doubly tragic nature of this incident, the possibility of custody cannot be ruled out."

Coomber is to appear in front of the judge again on January 30, following the preparation of pre-sentence reports.

Thieves steal athlete's memories of Olympics

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Burglars have left a former Olympic athlete distraught after they stole a safe containing irreplaceable memorabilia from her Surbiton home.

Sheila Hoskin, 71, of Saint Matthew's Avenue, came home after babysitting on December 30 to find her house had been broken into and valuables, including a letter signed by Prince Phillip inviting her to the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, had been stolen.

She competed in the long jump at the 1956 Olympics and broke the British record at Tooting Bec athletics track in May 1956.

Ms Hoskin, who has lived at the house for 27 years, said: "It was awful - they went through the whole house and took everything of value.

"I just feel sick and don't want to leave the house sometimes."

The green free-standing safe also contained an Olympic pin which was given to Ms Hoskin in Manchester, along with every other Olympian ever to compete in a games, when Britain was competing to host the 2000 Olympics.

She said: "It's just like part of my life has gone and cannot be replaced.

"Now I'm thinking maybe these things would have been safer if I hadn't put them in the safe."

Ms Hoskin's car had also been moved off the driveway and she believes it was so thieves could park outside to transport the safe.

She said police had been fantastic and she urged anyone who had seen the items to contact them immediately.

She said: "I'd like to get back as much as possible."

Detective Constable Ron Harvey of Kingston police, who is leading the investigation, is appealing for witnesses.

He can be contacted on 020 8247 5148 and call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Rose opening night tickets up for grabs

surreycomet.co.uk

Success, by any other name

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

After 20 years of waiting, years of hard work and its fair share of controversy, the curtain will rise on Kingston's Rose Theatre on Wednesday, January 16.

The opening production is Uncle Vanya, Anton Chekhov's masterpiece set in a small Russian village in the 1890s.

At the helm of the play, performed by the English Touring Theatre, will be the Rose Theatre's director, Sir Peter Hall.

He said: "The prospect of this is as exciting to me as my early days founding the Royal Shakespeare Company in the 60s and then leading the National Theatre Company into its new home on the South Bank in the late 70s.

"After years of waiting Kingston now has an iconic theatre and everyone who has fought so hard for the Rose, and those who have worked tirelessly in recent months to get the building finished, should feel nothing but pride as this wonderful theatre opens its doors."

Uncle Vanya will run until February 9 and features Drop the Dead Donkey's Neil Pearson and renowned actors Nicholas La Prevost and Ronald Pickup.

There is very limited availability for the opening night, but tickets remain for the rest of the show's run. Three sought-after pairs of opening night tickets can be won in this week's Surrey Comet.

Lucy Goldsborough, Rose director of marketing, said the completion of the theatre was a "wonderful achievement for the local community" and the support of more than 100 volunteers will be vital.

She said: "I really can't wait for the opening night - to see the auditorium full and the first production on the finished stage will make all of the hard work completely worthwhile."

Ward manager stole cheque from patient

A man who stole from a patient at Tolworth Hospital will be sentenced on Friday at Kingston Crown Court.

Anthony Gould was admitted to the hospital's Magnolia ward in April 2006 and ward manager Abdi Yusuf took a cheque worth £3,500 and tried to cash it in.

Yusuf was arrested, charged and pleaded guilty to theft and obtaining property by deception.

Mr Gould's daughter, Nicola Williams, claimed South West London and St George's (SWLSG) Mental Health NHS Trust, which runs the ward, did insufficient checks on

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Yusuf before he joined from Kingston and District NHS Trust. She now wants an apology.

She said: "The trust has a duty of care and has not met those standards. I have had no apology and nothing in writing – they're trying to sweep it under the carpet."

"I feel they are complicit in the crime allowing someone like that into a position of trust."

Mrs Williams also expressed her concern this was allowed to happen on a mental health ward with such vulnerable patients and was considering legal action.

The trust said Yusuf was an existing NHS employee and therefore did not require a Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) check when he transferred.

A trust spokesman said: "Abdi Yusuf was dismissed by the trust on October 31, 2006, for gross misconduct not related to the matter which is now the subject of the criminal proceedings."

"We decided to do a CRB check when the matter which led to his dismissal for gross misconduct came to light."

Parking man is still so driven

At your service: Attendant Ian Hunter

A Kingston car park attendant who has provided a friendly, welcoming service for more than 14 years was surprised with a long service award at his company's recent gala dinner in Pall Mall.

Ian Hunter, 58, looks after businesses and customers using the Neville House car park in Eden Street and said the award was unexpected.

He said: "I was invited to the luncheon and I felt there was something in the wind but it wasn't until I actually got there I knew what was happening."

"I love the job – you get to use your own initiative, people appreciate what you do and there's real job satisfaction."

Gather details on becoming a buddy

Kingston Volunteer Centre's buddy scheme will host an open day for people interested in joining the project.

The scheme is a befriending project for adults with learning disabilities. Volunteers visit their buddy a few times each month, helping that person get the most out of their leisure time by arranging activities such as the cinema, bowling or a meal.

The open evening is on Tuesday, January 22, from 6pm to 9pm at Kingston Volunteer Centre, Siddeley House, 50 Canbury Park Road, where people can find out more about the project, meet current volunteers and have a glass of wine.

Contact Chris Guinness on 020 8255 8068 or email buddyscheme@kvc.org.uk.

Turning trash into treasure

Environmental group Freecycle Kingston will host an event at which people can pick up free clothes, books and toys donated by the group's members.

Freecycling makes turning trash into treasure easy by helping people find a new home for unwanted goods.

The event is at the Environment Centre in Fairfield East, Kingston, inside the grounds of the Kingfisher Leisure Centre on Saturday, January 12, between 11am and 2pm.

'Neglect to blame' for horses' death in field

Horses are dying from neglect in a field in Chessington, but little is being done because their owners cannot be found.

The field in Clayton Lane is thought to be owned by travellers and rented out to owners of the horses.

One horse died on New Year's Eve and another died on January 2. Residents claim both deaths were caused by neglect.

One resident, who did not wish to be named, said: "The horses died of neglect and starvation."

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

The horses seem to come and go but this has been happening for years.

"Nothing seems to really happen but they have been neglected on and off for a long time now."

The nearby Chessington Equestrian Centre has been giving hay and water to the horses and claimed a vet put one of the horses down last year.

But it has no responsibility over the horses and the travellers living on the adjacent site said they did not know the owners.

Another resident, who also wished to remain anonymous, said: "They are definitely neglected and every time one dies they just get more horses."

"Something really needs to be done to stop them keeping horses there and to find out who the actual owners are."

The RSPCA said it was investigating the claims.

Deer savaged by dog

A deer in Richmond Park had to be shot over Christmas after being savaged by a dog.

The deer was left badly injured by the attack and had to be put down by the park officers.

A second deer was found dead just days later and park officers believe it had been hit by a car.

Details of the dog attack have been passed to the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) by the Royal Parks Police.

A spokeswoman for the Metropolitan Police said: "We are currently awaiting a decision from the CPS on whether to prosecute the dog owner but no arrests have been made."

She said the dog had not been seized or destroyed because it was not believed to be a banned breed under the Dangerous Dog Act.

A spokeswoman for the Royal Parks, which manages Richmond Park, said it expected owners to behave responsibly at all times when using the park and keep their dogs under control.

Under attack: Two deer died in the park over Christmas

Would-be instructor loses licence after drink-driving

A man who failed his test to become a driving instructor got drunk and took his friend out in his car to show how good he was.

Paul Loft, 39, of Anglesea Road, Kingston, pleaded guilty at Kingston Magistrates' Court on January 3, to drink driving and failing to stop on December 4.

by ALITA HOWE

His friend, Daniel Drakeford, 23, of Molesham Way, West Molesey, who was already disqualified from driving, also pleaded guilty to drink driving, driving without insurance, driving without a licence and possession of cannabis.

Lynne Shepherd, prosecuting, said Drakeford was seen behind the wheel of a red Kia in Surbiton on December 4 and was spoken to by PCSOs who smelled alcohol on his breath.

He gave a positive breath test and told police he had only driven a short distance down the road in Loft's vehicle.

Later that evening, police saw Loft driving the car with no lights on in Vincent Avenue, Surbiton.

An officer attempted to stop the vehicle but Loft sped off.

A breath test later showed he was over the limit.

Mr Middlehurst, defending Loft, said he had been having personal problems which had weighed heavily on him, resulting in the drinking binge.

He said: "Mr Loft had been trying to improve himself by studying to be a driving instructor."

"He had been told 24 hours before he had failed in that endeavour and so bought some drink."

"This incident was the result of Mr Loft offering to give his friend a driving lesson to show he was good."

Magistrates banned Drakeford from driving for three years and fined him £335.

Loft will be sentenced on January 24 after probation reports are completed.

Lights, camera, action: On the set of ITV1's Primeval at John Lewis

Viewers will see raptors rampaging through a Kingston department store this weekend, after John Lewis became the set for an ITV1 sci-fi drama. Film crews spent a week shooting the opening sequence for the second series of Primeval last June at the Wood Street store. The show will be aired on Saturday, January 12, at 7pm.

Cliff Vanstone, selling operations manager, at John Lewis, said the store was "delighted to help" with the filming after the director spotted the location while out shopping in the town.

Media hound: "People always take note of Piper more than me," his owner, Brian, jokes Deadlinepix KT18646

Invaluable Piper in the doggy spotlight

by PETER TRUMAN

ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston's Best launched its search for the borough's best dog last week.

Nominations started with Fitz, the German pointer, who is owned by Richmond Park assistant manager Adam Curtis.

This week, we profile a dog that is not just his owner's best friend but also his eyes. Piper, a four-year-old guide dog, belongs to New Malden resident Brian Clayton.

Brian has had Piper, a flat coat labrador, for more than three years and said his life would be completely different without him.

"He gives me the independence to go where I want to go. Nothing else can give me that. I cannot imagine life without him," he said. Brian described Piper as a playful and beautiful dog, joking that "people always take note of him more than me".

He said: "He has got a lot of character and is very inquisitive. He will go off and explore if he gets used to an area and wants to find out more."

And Piper is not a docile dog. Instead, he has bundles of energy and Brian said he was perfectly contented chasing around in the park.

He also has a keen interest in property development, or so it seems. Brian explained: "When I go to the fish and chip shop, he sometimes leads me to the estate agent next door instead.

"Why a dog would prefer estate agents to fish and chips, I don't know."

Piper is very audible and will let you know when he wants something, but is never demanding and always affectionate, Brian said.

□ Send in your nominations by email to ptruman@london.newsquest.co.uk, visit yourlocalguardian.co.uk/news/kingstonsbest or send a letter to Kingston's Best Dog, Unecol House, 819 London Road, North Cheam, Surrey SM3 9BN. Alternatively, you can nominate or vote by text and you could win a bottle of champagne. See the box below for details.

"How I Transformed My Kitchen Without Having to Buy a New One"

"My kitchen was over 10 years old and looked tatty. I desperately needed a new kitchen but didn't want the cost or upheaval. I had heard good reports of Dream Doors, who specialise in kitchen facelifts, so I decided to give them a try. What an amazing transformation!

As well as fitting brand new doors and worktops, everything was colour co-ordinated and I even gained additional cupboard space. My kitchen has been transformed in just over a day and I saved 60% of the cost of a new one!

I was under no obligation from the initial visit, and the advice and estimate I received were free of charge. There was no mess, no fuss, just plenty of friendly, helpful advice and I didn't need to pay the balance until I was completely satisfied!

Tory Freedom Pass u-turn 'cost £1.5m'

by DAVID RANKIN

drankin@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston Conservatives have hit back at claims they cost the borough £1.5million by vetoing proposals to change the council's contributions to the Freedom Pass scheme.

The cards offer free travel to elderly and disabled Londoners.

Liberal Democrats claim that London's council leaders agreed on December 11 to divide the cost of the scheme according to the number of times the cards were used rather than the number of people using them.

It would have saved money for Kingston because residents have fewer chances to use the Tube, Docklands Light Railway or tram.

But the Lib Dems said the Tories pulled out of the deal two days later at a London Councils transport and environment committee meeting on December 13.

Councillor Liz Green, Lib Dem environment spokeswoman, said: "This Tory u-turn will cost Kingston dear."

The Liberal Democrats said they were backed into a corner by the Conservatives when they voted for a lesser saving of £450,000 while the usage decision is assessed by a non-binding arbitration next year.

Coun Howard Jones, leader of Kingston Conservatives, said all parties agreed to change the deal on December 13. "Coun Green was present at the meeting representing Kingston and voted for the decision. She is now blaming others for her own decision," he said.

"And our guest speaker made the evening very memorable."

The shortlist comprises 31 finalists across 11 categories, including best employer, innovative marketing and the much coveted Surrey business person of the year.

Granting projects' wishes

A new round of grants for innovative projects supporting the business community in Elmbridge are up for grabs.

Elmbridge Business Network (EBN) is offering small grants to local businesses to help set up projects and initiatives which have a wider impact on business in the community.

EBN was set up in April 2006 and aims to bring business representatives from across the borough together to work on schemes that will retain and grow a vibrant local economy.

It is also responsible for co-ordinating delivery of the enhancing the local economy section of the Elmbridge sustainable community strategy from 2006 to 2015.

Councillor Rachael Lake, community development spokeswoman, said: "We are

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

fortunate Elmbridge has a vibrant business community.

"This grant scheme, funded by Elmbridge Council, will support small improvements that will make it an even better place for companies to operate."

Previous grants include £5,000 to Walton Business Group to expand its membership and activities to support businesses in Walton and £2,500 to help establish a shuttle bus between Esher station and High Street.

Applications from interested groups should be for one-off amounts that will benefit the business community in terms of its economic, social or environmental impact.

The deadline for applications is February 20 and an online application form is available at elmbridge.gov.uk/ebn

One of the UK's leading private clinics is right here in Kingston

The London Orthotic Consultancy (LOC) opened its clinic in June 2005.

It is a private clinic, independently owned by four clinicians who had previously worked together at Queen Mary's Hospital. Its objective is to combine the caring philosophy of the NHS with the highest quality of clinical service; all backed up by the use of the most advanced diagnostic equipment available in the UK.

All LOC clinicians are fully qualified professionals and registered with the Health Professions Council and are members of the British Association of Prosthetists and Orthotists and the Chartered Society of Physiotherapy.

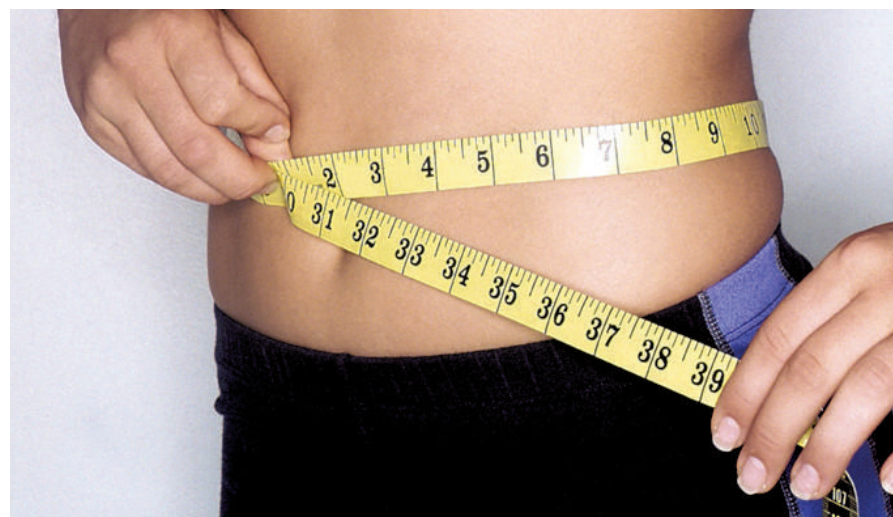

You may wonder what Orthotics means. It is a specialist medical discipline in which external orthoses or braces/supports are designed and fitted to an individual to help treat a wide variety of conditions.

While specialising in Orthotics, LOC has developed a number of other specialist clinics to treat other conditions. These include a Back/posture Clinic/plagiocephaly clinic. The LOC Back Pain and Posture clinic uses the most advanced 3D posture scanner and in depth holistic assessment to get to the root cause of back pain.

Although treatment will naturally vary according to the exact clinical diagnosis, LOC is pioneering the use of posture controlling proprioceptive insoles that alter muscular tension in the feet which in turn has a positive effect on an individual's posture. As posture improves back pain disappears.

The LOC Plagiocephaly Clinic specialises in the prevention and treatment of Positional Plagiocephaly, commonly referred to as 'flathead syndrome'. A free initial consultation is offered to parents who may be concerned about the shape of their baby's head.

Will you keep those resolutions this year?

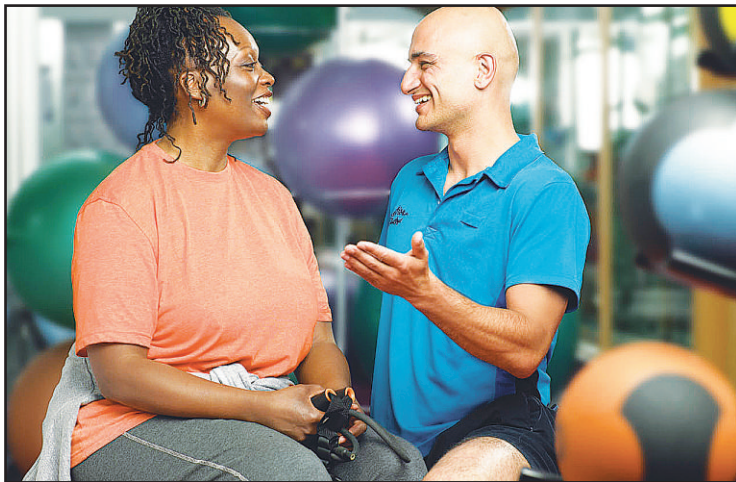

ADVERTISEMENT

According to a recent survey, the average person in the UK puts on 5lbs over the Christmas period. After eating and drinking around 1,750 extra calories a week, it's no wonder so many of us make a new year's resolution to lose weight and get fit.

To stay healthy, the International Association for the Study of Obesity recommends we exercise for 60 minutes every day. Taking the stairs instead of the lift, getting off the bus a stop earlier or parking the car in the furthest space available can all help. It's hardly surprising that January is also the most popular month to join a gym or health club. But the fitness industry has found that 20 per cent of people who do will have given up by the end of spring. And consumer analyst Mintel shows that 15 per cent of people paying membership fees visit less than once a month and three per cent go less than twice a year.

So how do you make sure you're in the 85 per cent who keep exercising regularly and get the most out of the membership you're paying for? Apparently, the key is to find exercises that you enjoy and have fun while you're working out. Here are five tips to help make keeping fit more enjoyable and keeping that new year's resolution much more likely.

1. Exercise with friends

The support and companionship of friends does wonders for motivation. There are many group classes available that are perfect for getting together, having fun and burning calories.

2. Vary your routine

Avoid getting bored doing the same things over and over again. Try tennis, swimming, yoga, spinning, dance etc. Don't be afraid to try something new and mix things up a little every once in a while.

3. Personal Training

Personal Trainers can help you tailor your workouts to be more effective. They can also help you burn 50 per cent more calories than you would on your own and even get you burning calories up to four hours after you've finished exercising.

4. Have a goal in mind

Training for a specific event or reason can help you to stay focused and keep you a lot more motivated. Perhaps you've got a holiday or a wedding coming up, or you might enter a local run or similar challenging event.

5. Celebrate your success

After a workout, your body releases endorphins which will leave you feeling great. And so you should. Relax in a spa, have a drink with friends and keep that feeling going. Reward yourself for being well on the way to a healthier, happier way of life.

So keep these tips in mind, keep motivated and you might just keep that resolution this year.

Raising a sweat is good. Raising a smile is even better.

We believe you should actually enjoy getting fit.

At David Lloyd, we know the more you enjoy working out, the more likely you are to reach your goals. That's why we have the highest qualified instructors possible who'll work with you to tailor a programme to suit your lifestyle. And with the widest range of sports and fitness facilities, there's always something different to keep you motivated. So from enjoying the latest equipment to taking a dip in our pools or just relaxing in our luxurious spa areas, there's plenty to smile about at your local club.

Come and see for yourself. Call the David Lloyd team on 0870 888 3015 or visit www.davidlloyd.co.uk

Where success is rewarded

In the heart of Kingston, overlooking the Fairfield, is St Joseph's Catholic Primary School – an increasingly successful one-form primary school.

St Joseph's provides a stimulating environment where not only are students' efforts and successes rewarded, but also where special gifts and needs are met and encouraged.

Qualities such as responsibility, tolerance, love and forgiveness are fostered. The curriculum is broad and balanced and learning is made exciting and fun.

The latest Ofsted inspection said the good standard of St Joseph's School is 'reflected in the strong commitment by the head teacher, deputy head and governors to move the school forward both in terms of its Christian Catholic ethos and academically'.

St Joseph's has made changes to its physical structure. Two new classrooms and a library have been constructed specifically to offer better and additional teaching and learning facilities.

Come dancing with star of the screen

Erin Boag, 32, is one of the professional dancers on Strictly Come Dancing and has choreographed hit theatre show Strictly Ballroom with her dance partner Anton du Beke, who also appears in the programme. She lives in Kingston and is about to start classes for budding ballroom dancers in the borough. She spoke to ALITA HOWE

You’re originally from New Zealand, how did you make it all the way to Kingston?

I came to England in 1996. New Zealand is a small country and England, London in particular, is seen as the heart and soul of the dance world so I came and plonked myself in the middle of it. I arrived with an AtoZ and was training at Dance Options in Cheam and Kingston Dance Studio. I hadn’t heard anything about Kingston and only knew Surbiton from The Good Life. One day I caught a train to Surbiton and lived there for two years before living in Sutton and Cheam. I moved to Kingston with my partner 18 months ago.

How did you get involved in Strictly Come Dancing?

Four years ago the BBC contacted professional dancers across the country about a new show so Anton and I put our names down for it. We didn’t know it was going to be such a huge success – the format is now shown around the world, although we’re contracted to the UK show.

Who has been your favourite celebrity to work with on the show?

That’s difficult. Martin Offiah in the first series was a joy to work with. I had Julian Clary in series two – at the beginning I was slightly terrified of him but he was so wonderful to work with – he had a wonderful soul and was very kind. He started with nothing and went on to be a finalist. When I worked with Colin Jackson, I realised why he was a gold medal winner – he was so determined to get everything right and trained for hours and hours. Peter Schmeichel in series four was inspirational – he didn’t think he would enjoy the show and during the seven weeks he stayed in became very graceful and was always smiling. In series five I had Willie Thorne, the snooker player, who was a wonderful man and became a great friend. I pray and hope I get on with my partner and I’ve been very fortunate with all five.

Dancing queen: Erin Boag

What has been a career highlight for you?

I went to the International Dance Championships at the Royal Albert Hall in 1996 where only the top 50 couples in the world dance. I didn’t make it that year but afterwards said I would make it on to that stage. Shortly after I met Anton and danced there with him the next year – the tears were running down my face and it really did break a barrier for me.

□ Erin’s classes start on Monday, January 21, at Kingston Dance Studio, Canbury Park Road. They cost £10 for an hour with beginners classes starting at 7.30pm and improvers at 8.45pm. Visit antonanderin.com for information.

What inspired you to dance?

I started dancing when I was three. It is my life. I couldn’t imagine life without Strictly Come Dancing and without dance. It is never a chore to get up and go to work. You meet some wonderful people and I enjoy teaching people to dance – it’s like learning to walk – everyone can do it. I have a lot of men in my classes and all ages from 15 to 70.

Waltzing away: Erin with dance partner Anton du Beke

Kingston longest waiting list in country for hearing aids

The hard of hearing in Kingston face a two-and-a-half year wait for hearing aids on the NHS, more than 50 per cent longer than anywhere else in the country.

There seems to be only half a story here. How did this situation arise and not be tackled by the PCT for some long time? Is like being compared with like?

Are all the waiting times being quoted and compared with the waiting times for digital hearing aids?

I believe that the supply of digital hearing aids by the NHS is relatively new and that fitting and adjustment is considerably more difficult and hence time-consuming and expensive, than the supply and fitting of the older style analogue hearing aids. Is Kingston only supplying digital hearing aids? Are other PCT's supplying only analogue hearing aids or a mixture of both types? What is the full story?

Kingston Council chief's whopping payrise revealed

Kingston Council's chief has earned nearly £170,000 – a whopping 12 per cent pay increase on last year.

So it will take around 80 households paying band F council tax just to pay the chief exec's salary this year. That's aside from the tax, National Insurance contributions, pension subs and other benefits paid for on his behalf. No wonder there's no money left for important services!

I'm so pleased that the council tax money we are made to pay is going to such a good cause. Maybe if such a good pay rise has been given our council tax will be lowered.

Goodwill cheer thanks to Santa's super sleigh visit

I would like to thank everyone who supported Kingston Rotary Club in the lead up to Christmas, both at the tree of goodwill in the town centre and on Santa's sleigh that toured the borough and surrounding areas.

On a number of days we were ably assisted at the tree by the young people of the borough from local schools and the scouts who sang, played in a band or performed excerpts from school shows.

Kingston Rotary Club is indebted to Kingston Grammar, Coombe Boys', Richard Chaloner and Coombe Girls' schools, and the New Malden Scouts and Guides Band, for the great performances that attracted appreciative audiences from those shopping in the town.

On the tours that Santa undertook on his sleigh he was welcomed wherever he went. Children and adults alike came to their front door and windows to give Santa a wave and say hello. In addition, this year Santa visited Bedelsford and King Athelstan schools, where he was warmly welcomed by the children there.

Kingston Rotary Club is pleased that the effort of organising the tree of goodwill and Santa's sleigh has been so rewarding, giving so much pleasure to local people and providing the opportunity for local schools, and the scouts and guides, to show what they can do.

My thanks again to all those that supported the activities and to those that contributed to the collections, which this year raised over £8,000 for local charities.

Tenants need debate

Despite financial approval by the Housing Corporation (from whom the money would come), tenants failed to vote "yes" to transfer to KT Housing Trust in 2004 and thereby turned down the offer to spend £12million per year for 10 years (£120million in total).

In the coming financial year 2008/9, £6million will be taken from the Housing Revenue Account in Kingston by a Labour government. Rita Leech wrote in her letter that "local authorities are duty bound to house the homeless". Correct.

But I challenge you to provide evidence that housing association stock has ever, or would ever, be sold on to property developers. Rita Leech, Unison, Latch and Councillor Steve Mama: desist from using half truths, distortions and bare faced lies in this matter.

The outcome of this is far more important than any of you are. Tenants are entitled to a fair debate, as to how to proceed to a satisfactory conclusion. Tenants are entitled to expect the full support of elected councillors.

How many of you knocked on my door in the days leading up to Monday, May 17, 2004? None. Do you expect me to vote for you in 2010?

Marathon makes Sense

With ballot places for the 2008 Flora London Marathon now closed, runners are looking to charities to apply for a place. But with so many worthwhile causes competing for attention it can be confusing.

I remember with pride the day I ran the Flora London Marathon for Sense. Although completing the 26 miles was a huge personal challenge, I realised that it was nothing compared to the unique challenges which deafblind people face every single day of their lives.

Sense offers runners very personal support including training advice to tips, local PR support to help runners reach fundraising totals and will provide a post-marathon massage on the day itself. Sense's cheering points along the route on race day gave me all the motivation I needed to reach the finishing line.

Cramps, aches and blisters fall by the wayside when you know the cause is worth it. There is no doubt in my mind that Sense is the charity to run for. Places are limited so don't miss out on an experience you'll never forget. Call Sense's Marathon team, marathon@sense.org.uk 0845 1270063. On your marks, get Sense, go.

Service is in good health A new year's message from Ken

I felt that I should write with regard to the most excellent treatment I received while having been admitted to St Helier Hospital as an emergency patient.

I was taken to the accident and emergency department first, where I was immediately seen by a nurse, who then arranged for a doctor to attend. The doctor arranged blood tests, x-rays and gave me painkillers. The blood tests were rushed through and the doctor made the decision to admit me.

I was transferred to the assessment unit. I spent 24 hours there and transferred to a surgical ward (Mary Moore).

At every turn I was met with nothing but kindness and help from doctors, nurses, auxiliaries, cleaners, porters and the catering staff. I should add that I did eventually leave the hospital late on Christmas Eve, and was able to see my grandson on his first Christmas morning.

Happy New Year to all Kingston Guardian readers. London has been moving in the right direction and I want to keep it that way and build on the progress our city has made so that everyone can benefit.

My priorities for 2008 will be to ensure London's continued success and to make that success sustainable by protecting our environment.

One big priority will be to press ahead with policies that will mean more affordable homes – including the key tough policy that half of all new homes must be affordable. I will retain travel concessions for older Londoners, children, those on income support and the disabled – and defend them from repeated attacks.

Later this year, Kingston will benefit when London becomes a low emission zone, tackling harmful pollution.

There's much for us to build on.

Making a noise over Heathrow

Government proposals to almost double Heathrow flights and passenger numbers will hit everyone with a huge area with even more noise, traffic congestion and stress on housing and most services.

More aircraft taking off and landing from all three runways simultaneously will cause a far wider spread of noise and pollution.

It will be necessary to share airspace by drawing in or fanning out flight-paths over new areas at different heights for each runway – some of which may be lower and noisier than at present.

It is astounding that the Department for Transport's "Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport" consultation totally ignores the advantages of high speed rail (HSR) links to the regions rather than short haul flights from a third runway. Road and rail transport are DfT responsibilities, yet demolition of the houses of 700 families is proposed rather than considering something like the super-fast St Pancras HSR scheme. Heads should roll.

Fellow residents are urged to attend such meetings as may be arranged and respond to the DfT after it has considered further information which should arise in the coming weeks. Please chase your council and MP if they are not already involved.

A massive response may yet limit the disruptive further expansion of Heathrow.

The DfT website is dft.gov.uk/heathrowconsultation and an alternative point of view is at stopheathrowexpansion.com.

Tuning up: The choir at the All Saints' Church Lights to Remember service

Lights are switched on in loving memory

The annual Lights to Remember appeal by Marie Curie Cancer Care came to a festive climax on Saturday, December 16, with a service at All Saints' Church in Kingston and a switch on of the charity's tree of remembrance in Market Place.

Silent Witness actress Amanda Burton joined the children of St John the Baptist C of E Primary school in Hampton Wick to switch on the tree's lights, which had been sponsored by local people to remember loved ones.

Hannah Yates from Marie Curie Cancer Care said: "So far we've raised about £3,700 but people can still donate money.

"The ceremony was lovely and I think a lot of people found that it helped them being around others in the same sad situation."

The Lights to Remember Appeal takes place every year and is an opportunity for local people and families to come together and remember loved ones and show their support for the work of the Marie Curie nurses.

All the money raised through the appeal goes towards helping Marie Curie Cancer Care nurses care for terminally ill cancer patients.

Pensioners spring to action for fund drive

by KERRY GROVE

kgrove@london.newsquest.co.uk

Enterprising pensioners from a sheltered housing block in Surbiton have gone into fundraising overdrive to collect £1,500 for a garden gazebo.

The 20-strong team from Charles Sumner House in the Alpha Road estate have held table top sales, raffles and a Christmas party to raise £700 in the last six months.

The gazebo will be used as an outside space where the 30 residents can socialise and play cards and is hoped to be completed by the spring.

Organiser Jean Gillies, 82, said: "At our age, with our thin skin, we can't go out in the sun but we like to go out in the fresh air. We've got a lovely garden.

"We are very happy with Kingston Council so we like to do what we can for ourselves to help. It can't do everything."

The week ahead

Ewell rules

While London recovers from NYE, New Slang Kingston is wasting no time in getting up-and-running. This week's headliners are Epsom and Ewell's Clocks. Featured as one to watch in our sister paper, the Epsom Guardian, you can do just that this Thursday – twice! – as the band plays an acoustic instore at Banquet Records before the main event at The Works. Thursday

Like a puppet

Following on from last year's successful exhibition, Kingston Museum hosts a puppet show with a difference as Rani Singh uses traditional marionettes to tell a medley of Indian folk stories. It is open to children aged five and above, accompanied by an adult, with a chance for everyone to dress up. Just book first to make sure there is a costume with your name on it. Saturday

Role play

Walton's Riverhouse Barn hosts Courtiers, Courtesans and Conspirators, a semi-staged evening of musical extracts exploring some of opera's greatest and most-complex characters, with Sandra Ford, a principal soprano at ENO, baritone Trevor Alexander, and pianist Peter Crockford. Sunday.

Big beats

Kingston University launches a season of music-making with a lunchtime concert by the Kingston University Djembe Ensemble. Leader Eliza Dickie is an expert at playing this skin-covered African hand drum, whose name means "everyone gather together". So why not do just that and head to St John's Church. Tuesday

And finally...

As everyone needs more panto, The Vera Fletcher Hall features a four-day run of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, complete with diminutive stars, a Wicked Queen and a charming cook. But answer me one thing: shouldn't the plural of dwarf be dwarves. I tell you! These panto folk get away with grammatical murder. Wednesday

“It is up to us who work in the theatre to safeguard its future”

Neil Pearson

A week today, the non-existent fly curtain at Kingston's Rose Theatre will finally lift, almost two decades after the Bankside original was unearthed.

This day has been a long time coming, not least for Sir Peter Hall, resident artistic director and the man behind the inaugural season and its opening production – Uncle Vanya.

But it is business as usual in the rehearsal room, says Neil Pearson, who leads a stellar cast for the Chekhov classic.

The 48-year-old actor is probably best known for his popular turns in Drop the Dead Donkey and Bridget Jones's Diary. But as visionary Astrov in Vanya, he will deliver the first major speech of the night – “existence is tedious; life is a senseless, dirty business” – proving just how bold a choice the play is to launch the new Rose.

“Well, we have nearly

THEATRE: Uncle Vanya, Rose Theatre

sold out,” counters Pearson. “Too often ‘commercial’ means ‘dumb’ and it doesn't necessarily need to. There's a market for the big, sequinny musical or the light comedy.

“But there is also a thirst for work that credits people with the ability to concentrate, to think and to reflect.

“Chekhov is one of the greats, a man writing at the turn of the 20th century with this great vision. Astrov often sounds like he is campaigning on the green ticket. He sees the problem – his tragedy is he feels he can do nothing about it. And that should resonate with audiences today. We are aware of the imminent global crisis but feel paralysed.”

As national newspapers fall over themselves to interview Hall about his grand vision, the Kingston community remains in two minds over the venture.

An estimated £3m of public money has been channelled into the theatre but, as yet, there are no signs the Rose can bloom without it. And Pearson knows better than most the challenges facing local venues – he lent his support to Bristol Old Vic when it was forced to go dark last year.

“The plight of the Old Vic is a warning against complacency,” he says. “A theatre can't take its existence for granted and there was a feeling it was being run for the people who worked there, rather than the people who it purported to serve.”

So can one area have too many theatres? South-west London already boasts four major venues in Richmond and Wimbledon alone.

Pearson pauses: “I don't know how many theatres is too many. Our perennial problem is we only recognise the value of something when we have lost it. If Bristol Old Vic was to go under, people would recognise it retrospectively as a tragedy. So it's up to us who work in the theatre and those who care about the theatre to safeguard its future.”

CLASSICAL: Nicola Benedetti, Riverhouse Barn

Sami Mokbel

You would not think a former BBC Young Musician of the Year would confess to being a big Michael Jackson fan. But violinist Nicola Benedetti is happy to admit to liking a bit of Wacko Jacko.

"I like a mixture," said the 20-year-old. "When I was younger, I used to be a massive Michael Jackson fan – and I still am."

However, despite her penchant for the Moonwalker, Nicola insists classical music is her first love. "I listen to soul and jazz but mainly classical. I didn't really come from a musical background but just fell in love with the violin."

And it is Nicola's expertise that has taken her to all four corners of the world. But her success has not happened overnight. The Scottish musician started to learn the violin at the age of four, by nine had passed eight grades of musical examinations and, in September 1997, began to study at the world-renowned Yehudi Menuhin School. And Nicola insists she enjoyed every last second.

"It was never a chore to practise as I loved doing it. When you are learning a new piece, you want to keep on working so you are comfortable with it. And then you are desperate to move on to the next piece to improve."

This Saturday, she will join fellow Menuhin graduates Rowena Calvert and Alison Rhind at Walton's Riverhouse Barn. Rhind is her duo partner, while Calvert was a finalist in the BBC Young Musician of the Year competition two years before Benedetti scooped the title.

"I think there's pressure that comes with winning that award," says Benedetti, "but there is also pressure when you sign a recording contract. There was a little hype, and it did take a few years to adjust, and you have to try your best to put that to the side."

At the tender age of 20, Nicola has achieved more than most musicians accomplish in their careers but the talented violinist is not resting on her laurels.

"I don't look back and think, 'Wow, I've achieved a lot. I see it it as the beginning – it has been an amazing experience for me and I want it to continue.'"

New order: MMISL will soon have a new lead singer and new songsheet

January is a time of new beginnings for everyone, including rock stars.

Amy Winehouse was recently snapped with nothing more harmful than a cup of hot chocolate. Progress indeed, even if rumours she is renewing her wedding vows with hubby Blake Fielder-Civil suggest it's one step forward, two back.

But, as fresh starts go, they don't get much bigger than for Meet Me In St Louis, who are on the lookout for a new singer.

The Guildford post-hardcore lovelies, whose national tour brings them to Kingston next week, are currently playing sans frontman after Tobias Hayes bowed out at the end of last year.

Drummer Oliver Knowles, 25, says. "We have someone in mind to replace Toby but want to try them out a bit first."

So no Babyshambles-style cameos from the crowd, then. Not that MMISL is short of volunteers. The band's fans are famously loyal, even helping to fund last year's debut album, Variations on Swing, which much impressed with its schizophrenic time changes.

The band first formed in 2005, part of the revved-up Surrey music scene. But it was in London that they first won over Mike Diver, of influential indie forum Drowned in Sound.

"We were playing at The Water Rats the same night Mike was DJing," recalls Knowles. "Previously, he didn't like our stuff but then he watched the gig and thought we were really good. And ever since he's written overwhelmingly nice things about us."

And it's not just Diver: "If you want your life to be complete, you have to see this band live at least twice," advise NME and Knowles also feels the band is at its best on stage rather than in the studio.

Next time you see them, it won't only be with a new singer but with some new songs, too. "We're looking forward to writing again," says Knowles. "We were under a lot of pressure last time and the recording process was hectic. So we are not giving ourselves too close a target for the second album."

Ford is developing a reputation as a centre of excellence for diesel engines. The Fiesta is a grateful beneficiary. Andy Enright reports

Despite the burgeoning reputation of Ford's Centre for Diesel Excellence at Dagenham, the 67bhp 1.4-litre engine the Fiesta TDCi sports under its bonnet originally hails from France. Peugeot, to be exact, which uses it in some of its smaller models.

In the 307, this unit seems to struggle to move the sheer bulk of a full-sized family hatch, but the prospects for a smaller Supermini like the Fiesta seem better, even if it does tip the scales at a hardly featherweight

1,065kg. Around 118lb/ft of torque should even serve up the promise of some fun behind the wheel.

If you do need more urge, a 1.6-litre TDCi is available.

Fortunately the 1.4 TDCi Fiesta manages to live up to expectations, dynamically at least.

The acceleration to 60mph is fair at 14.7 seconds, but this gives little clue as to the satisfying nature of the Duratorq engine's mid range pull. Fuel economy is, however, superb.

The official combined fuel economy equates to a creditable 65mpg while the carbon dioxide emissions are an almost-saintly 114 grammes per kilometre.

If the Mondeo and the Focus had never existed, the Fiesta would have been winning awards left, right and centre, it's that good.

In the final reckoning it doesn't quite play out like that. Familiarity has bred, if not contempt, then a blind spot for the work Ford has put into the Fiesta.

However tempting it is to call the 1.4-litre TDCi a quick fix, the engine having been sourced from a rival, the overall package is too good in too many key areas to ignore.

It's a super engine in a car that handles well and ticks all the focus group boxes.

With the Renault Clio, Seat Ibiza and VW Polo all queuing up to take a pop at the Fiesta 1.4 TDCi, it's got a fight on its hands but also the ability to come out on top.

Synchronised splash by trio

Kingston Ladies have crowned a great year with successes at the ASA National Age Group and National Masters Synchronised Swimming Championships.

Harriet Mutlow, Franceca Stevens and Louise Chambers (pictured) saw off the challenge of Brighton, Seymour, Pudsey, Bracknell, Witney, Ruby and Walsall to take the masters' title in Leicester.

Meanwhile, Kingston finished eighth in the U19 combination team event at the National Age Group Championships in Gloucester.

Dowson: Play-offs a must

by SAMI MOKBEL

smokbel@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian boss Alan Dowson insists his side would have failed should they not make the play-offs this season.

The Ks came within seconds of beating top-of-the-table Dover Athletic on Saturday.

Goals from Simon Huckle and Dean Lodge edged Dowson's men in front 2-1, but a late equaliser from Craig Cloke secured a point for the Whites.

The result leaves Ks out of the promotion picture for the first time this season and Dowson told the Guardian he would deem the campaign unsuccessful should that be the case at the end of it.

"If we don't get in the play-offs this season then we will have failed this season," he said.

"I am not interested in a top-10 finish.

"Everyone says we have done well to be where we are at the moment considering where we were last season, but I don't buy into that and I hope my players don't.

"We have had a great year but it is vital that we continue to improve."

Despite the disappointment of dropping two points at the death on Saturday, Dowson insists the result should fill his side with confidence.

"The big thing about my players is belief, because there is no reason why they shouldn't believe they can secure a play-off spot," he added.

"If they don't believe it after coming so close to beating the league leaders then they never will.

"I demanded a performance from them and they gave one.

"I had a chat with them before the game and told them I thought we were under achieving a bit, and I suppose that chat could have gone either way.

"Thankfully, they took what I said on board."

Dowson's men travel to Watton Casuals on Saturday.

SPORTSbrief

FOOTBALL: New Malden's Tom Onslow-Cole gets his 2008 season under way when he joins forces with fellow 20-year-old Sam Bird for tomorrow's BP Ultimate 102 unleaded Celebrity Kart Challenge at Autosport International in Birmingham. They will represent the BP Ultimate 102 team for the charity Cerebra. Onslow-Cole made his touring car debut last season, taking four podiums and a race win to help Team RAC to the Independents Trophy.

Full report: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

RUGBY UNION: Kingston started 2008 the same way they finished last year, keeping their unbeaten run alive with a 10-5 victory at Battersea Ironsides. Jonathon Morris and Joe Best each scored tries to keep their side at the top of Surrey League One. Kingston visit Saracen Amateurs in the EDF Junior Vase on Saturday and host Cranleigh in the Surrey Shield on Sunday.

More rugby: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

FOOTBALL: Corinthian Casuals made Tooting & Mitcham work hard for the points at Imperial Fields but in the end goals from Jason Pinnock and Jacob Erskine were enough to seal a routine 2-0 win for the promotion-chasing Terrors. Casuals host rock-bottom Molesey on Saturday.

More football: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

HOCKEY: Instead of the desired promotion, Surbiton will be seeking to avoid relegation after losing three of their four National Indoor Division One opening weekend fixtures at the Fleming Park Leisure Centre in Eastleigh. They lost 8-6 to Harleston Magpies, 10-7 to Havant and 7-5 to St Albans, with a 6-4 win over Stourport the only good news. They play Guildford, Sheffield University Bankers, Doncaster and Barford Tigers this weekend.
